PAGE ENTERS PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

Trial of Broker Accused of Libeling
Representatives Is Delayed
Until Fall.

"Not guilty" was the plea of Henry W. A. Page, the New York linen broker, charged with libeling Representative Clayton, of Alabama, and other members of the Judiciary Committee of the House, when he was arraigned yesterday before Justice Anderson in Criminal Court No. 1.

Page gave $5,000 bail for his appearance at the trial, which was postponed until next fall.

The prosecution sought to have the trial ordered for next month on the plea that the delay would suit the convenience of the Representatives, who are to be the principal witnesses. As Page opposed the early date, owing to business engagements in Europe, the court declined to set the trial before the summer recess of the courts.

Page talked freely of his troubles, which he sought to have righted at the hands of the Judiciary Committee. He declared that he was a British subject, and said he asked Ambassador Bryce three years ago to take up his case, but asserts he was referred to the local counsel for the embassy, with whom he has kept up a correspondence running through three years.

ASKS LIMITED DIVORCE.

Mrs. Marjorie Terry Asks Divorce from Dr. Philip R. Terry.

Mrs. Marjorie Terry yesterday filed suit for a limited divorce with alimony against Dr. Philip R. Terry, formerly of this city, now of Asheville, N. C. Mrs. Terry charges her husband with desertion last September, and says she has been unable to support herself, being now employed as telephone operator in a hotel.

Through Attorney Paul E. Lash, Mrs. Terry says she was married May 26, 1910, and lived with her husband until April 19, when he decided to go to Asheville, Center, Iowa, to practice medicine. He later returned to Washington with the view of locating at Asheville. Shortly after the return to this city, Mrs. Terry says the court, her husband told her he was going to New York for a special course of study and desired her to return temporarily to her parents.

She did this, accompanied him, she states, and after six weeks in New York the husband went with his parents to Asheville, passing through this city, she avers, without visiting her. Since his arrival at Asheville, it is alleged, Dr. Terry has not contributed to the support of his wife.

MURDERER IS SENTENCED.

Wade Baker Gets Twenty-seven Years in Penitentiary.

Wade Baker, colored, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree yesterday before Justice Anderson in Criminal Court No. 1, and was sentenced to serve twenty-seven years in the Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. Baker admitted choking his wife to death last July at their home, 112 M Street Southwest.

Bessie Pemberton, a young colored woman, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in connection with the death of her newly-born infant last August. Justice Anderson sent her to the penitentiary for one year and three months.

A term of five years—the limit of the law—was imposed by Justice Anderson yesterday on Dominio Pansa, an Italian, convicted of an attempted assault on a five-year-old girl.

Thaddeus Johnson, colored, was also given a term of fifteen years' imprisonment in the penitentiary following his conviction of a felonious assault on a girl seven years old.

POLICEMAN LOSES CASE.

Justice Gould Refuses Mandamus to George B. Wheelock.

Justice Gould in Circuit Court No. 3 yesterday upheld the contention of Maj. Sylvester, superintendent of police, and the Commissioners that a member of the police force must serve five years in class 2 before he is eligible for promotion to class 1.

The court refused a mandamus asked by George B. Wheelock to compel the Commissioner to promote him to class 1 on his claim to be entitled to promotion because of five years' service in the department.

ASKS $10,000 DAMAGES.

District and Construction Company Sued by Cyclist.

The Davis Construction Company and the District are named as defendants in an action filed yesterday by Benjamin F. Harrison through Attorney St. George Raby and E. Hilson Jackson, wherein damages in the sum of $10,000 are asked for injuries received by the plaintiff when he ran into certain obstructions while riding his bicycle on the morning of November 18 last, resulting in a broken collarbone and a dislocated shoulder, among other injuries.

The declaration alleges that the Armstrong Manual Training School, the property of the District, was undergoing repairs prosecuted by the Davis Construction Company, whose agents and employees left obstructions, improperly guarded, in the street.

John Nelson Missing.

The police have been asked to locate John Nelson, thirty years old, a clerk in the War Department, who has been missing from his home, 1305 Fifteenth Street Northwest, since early Wednesday morning.

He is described as being five feet six inches tall, of slender build, and dark complexion.

Will Show Tropical Scenes.

At the illustrated lecture for school children at the Pastime Theater this morning at 11 o'clock, E. P. Cowell will show some beautiful slides of "Tropical America," including fruits, flora, fauna, cities, coast, and other scenes of Florida.

BOOKLOVERS USE SCIENTIFIC PLANS

Treat Each Problem in Special Manner and Get Good Results.

In many respects the Booklovers' Contest is now assuming some of the most interesting phases of its brief career. The interest, of course, has not yet reached its highest pitch, but there have already been shown some remarkable facts which indicate that the appeal of the competition is universal.

At first there may have been ground for thinking that the puzzles would be attractive only to the limited class having an extensive knowledge of books. But this feeling was dispelled almost from the first day. It was shown that, so far from being confined to the so-called "Washington class," the contestants were from every walk in life, and the results clearly show that those who started out with comparatively little knowledge of books are making more progress than any other class. Perhaps this can be traced to their perseverance and to the fact that they are treating each puzzle in a scientific manner.

As already shown in The Washington Herald, there is now a well-developed system of treating each puzzle, and those who are using so-called references in their work find it possible to make certain classifications. Some of them report that the system has been a great help in arriving at solutions, and others say that it has not had very large results so far.

At any rate, there is no doubt that the Booklovers' Contest has been "on" in real earnest for at least a week, and that the list of aspirants is increasing daily.

List of Prizes Follows:

The first prize will be a $1,000 building lot in that charming suburb across the Anacostia River, Nantico Highlands. It is a good investment value from any point of view, and will be eagerly sought after by many hundreds in the contest.

A Kingsbury inner-player piano, manufactured by the Cable Piano Company and valued at $100, is the second prize. Percy S. Foster, of the Percy S. Foster Company, 1220 G Street Northwest, selected for The Washington Herald.

The third prize is a $50 collection of books selected by W. W. Norman, manager of Brentano's, at Twelfth and F Streets Northwest. The library represents a wide variety and is certain to meet all tastes.

THEODORE BECK COMMITTS SUICIDE

One of Well-known Saloonkeepers Shoots Self Dead at His Home.

With apparently no cause for such action, Theodore Beck, forty years old, one of the Beck brothers, who conduct a saloon at 621 Louisiana Avenue, shot and killed himself in his room above the establishment shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A .32 caliber revolver was found clamped in his right hand, and he was lying on the floor with blood pouring from a wound in his forehead.

The body was discovered by Edward Beck, a brother, who declares that the dead man was in no financial trouble, and was usually cheerful when he retired early yesterday morning.

The body was taken to Lee's undertaking establishment and will be cremated after a brief funeral service tomorrow.

MAY BE WASHINGTON MAN.

An unidentified white man, supposed to be a resident of Washington, was found dead on the streets of Los Angeles yesterday. The only means of identification which the police of the California city have is a Pullman check, issued by the Washington office of the Washington-Sanjour route, numbered 202, and calling for a lower berth in car A, leaving Washington April 6, for San Francisco.

The Los Angeles police have not communicated the news of the death to the local authorities, but have appealed to the railway offices here in hope of establishing identification. The message was not received until after the closing hour, however, and it was impossible to ascertain his name and residence last night.
